To Whom It May Concern

I have been asked by Andrew Graham to provide a reference for Event Project Management and it is a genuine pleasure to be able to record my appreciation for the service provided by Event.

As the person responsible for the relocation of Nestlé Australia's Head Office from Darling Park to the Rhodes Corporate Campus, I appointed Event Project Management in 2002 based on the recommendation of a number of property specialists, some of whom had worked with Event in the past.

The Nestlé project involves the relocation of our major Sydney office at Darling Park (approx 10,000 sq. metres), as well as another smaller facility (approx 5,000 sq metres) to the Australand development at Rhodes. This project is due for completion by the end of November 2003.

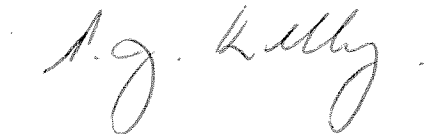

The project is running on-time and within the original budget. I allocate a significant amount of the credit for this performance to the team at Event. At all times our dealings with Andrew Graham, Richard Parry and Paul Middleton have been at the highest standards of professionalism. This is an experienced team who have provided me with clear, well planned strategies and an unwavering commitment to meet deadlines and objectives on every occasion.

Our project has been complex and involves many tough deadlines. Event Project Management have conducted a host of tenders within the project ranging from the provision of mechanical services to the management of our staff café. They have co-ordinated the work of numerous external parties including the developer and builder Australand, our firm of architects GSA Group. They possess outstanding communication skills, and their management of information and people is quite exceptional.

In all of these dealings, the Event team have been highly ethical, pragmatic, focussed. They conduct themselves in a very calm manner, never phased by whatever is thrown at them.

I would have no hesitation in recommending the team at Event Project Management. This is the A team.

Yours sincerely,
Nestlé Australia Ltd
