Re: EPM

I have been privileged to work closely with Andrew Graham and the team at EPM over the last 18 months. During my time here Andrew, Johan O'Brien, Lawrence Shanahan and Alex Reid have worked on a number of important projects, of varying size and complexity, for the School. Those projects include the new Science building and boarding house, the design and development of a new English and Languages Centre together with complex matters surrounding the removal and relocation of a substation, a complex refurbishment of the School's dining facilities and a number of smaller matters.

The EPM team are extremely efficient and well organised. Not only are they pleasant people to work with but they also, importantly, communicate well at all levels and keep me, as key client contact, very well updated. EPM also have very efficient systems in house for management of project libraries which mean clients can have a high degree of trust that their project documentation is as it should be.

I have found the team to be proactive in their management of projects and very strongly focused on having proposed solutions ready for discussion before matters become problematical.

As I write we are just about to complete the delivery of the new kitchen and dining facility. Lawrence Shanahan has led this exceptionally well and kept a very strong focus on the need to deliver this on the first day of Term.

I can highly recommend the EPM team.

Yours sincerely
